A Small “Plethora” of Cycling News

By Bob Beane

Watching “The Three Amigos” (Steve Martin, Chevy Chase, Martin Short, etc.), my question was the same as El Guapo’s, “what the heck is a plethora?” For 98% of the people who saw that movie, it was the first exposure we had to that word (I had a thesaurus in high school AND college, and never stumbled across “plethora” in six years...). The primary definition is “an overabundance or excess”. So, since there is a “small plethora” of items to report...here we go:

- Our very own Sue Fassett was extensively quoted in a July 7, 2008, article in the Ahwatukee Foothills News titled “Some better, worse alternatives to the high price of fuel”. Things we learned about Sue via this article: (1) Sue has been commuting to work by bicycle for 12 years, (2) Last year, Sue drove her truck about 2,000 miles...and biked about 8,000 miles (at $4/gallon, she would save over $1,500 a year, even after the cost of tubes, tires and bike maintenance), and (3) Sue’s 13 mile commute by bike takes a bit longer than traveling by car, but allows her to eat donuts without guilt.
- Next time you travel to New York City, go for a ride on Broadway Boulevard...In what we can only hope will be a new trend in urban street design, the City of New York is in the process of converting a seven block section of Broadway (from 42nd to 35th Streets) into a Parisian style promenade with plazas, café style seating and a bike lane on the opposite side of those “islands” away from the two automobile lanes that will remain. The space is being created by reducing vehicle lanes from four to two. This project, combined with similar projects just to the south on Broadway at Madison Square, is part of a plan to reclaim portions of Manhattan for pedestrian and cycling use, and is part of a larger “Green” initiative backed by the administration of Mayor Bloomberg.
- South Mountain Silent Sundays to continue – Popular South Mountain Silent Sundays, where the park is closed to cars, will continue on August 24, September 28, October 26 and November 23.
- Amgen Tour of California 2009 expands route, and host cities are announced – The fourth Tour of California will take place February 14-22, 2009, as the race expands to 800 miles and nine days/stages. Tour presenter AEG also announced a cross-promotional agreement with ASO, owner of the Tour de France. The 2009 race will begin in Sacramento on Saturday, February 14, and will traverse all the way to Escondido over nine days. Among the features of the route are a stage from cycling “mecca” Davis, CA, through wine country to Santa Rosa, a crossing of the Golden Gate Bridge on Stage 3, and an individual time trial in Solvang on Stage 7. With these developments, the Tour of California continues on its path to becoming the clear #4 bike race in the world, behind only the Grand Tours of Italy, Spain and France. Look for more information regarding the Tour of California in future issues of this newsletter.
- Cooperation in Colorado to preserve prime mountain biking opportunities – Wilderness advocates, Bicycle Colorado and IMBA clubs are cooperating to try to work out future MTB access to a proposed 600,000 acre wilderness area near the communities of Aspen, Vail, Glenwood Springs and Breckenridge. Code named the “Hidden Gems Proposal”, this effort recognizes that MTBrS and wilderness advocates have a common ground in wishing to preserve areas from development while maintaining low impact access for MTB riding and hiking. Even the Aspen Skiing Company’s Environmental Foundation has chipped in with a $4,000 grant to jump start creation of a regional mountain bike trails master plan. This initiative is an example of how bicycling and environmental interests can cooperate and negotiate to achieve a “win-win” to preserve both prime environments and responsible access for recreation.
- Neal Thomas and Mike Kirk once again got “air time” for the club jersey during the Versus coverage of the Tour. 4K from the summit of an Alpine climb our boys appeared, complete with Tour-yellow wigs. Maybe they’ll make the DVD this time!

A Gap in the Paceline...

In July, our club, the cycling community, and particularly his family and the cyclists of Sun Lakes, lost someone very special and one of the regulars of the paceline. Mike St. Louis lost his life in a tragic accident while riding in his home community of Sun Lakes, where it was reported a garbage truck unexpectedly stopped in the bike lane in front of Mike. A former pro ball player, Mike was 6’2”, 220 lbs, and a lifetime athlete. Family, friends and cycling mates will all miss the 65 year old “big guy” of the Sun Lakes pack. Our heart-felt sympathies go out to Mike’s family and friends.

Did You Know...About China? From an AP Article written by Elaine Kurtenbach

- 130 million bikes were manufactured in the world last year...90 million were in China.
- 9 of 10 bikes purchased in the United States is manufactured in China.
- China is offering 50,000 bicycles for rent in Beijing during the Olympics.
- Despite the above, Shanghai's roughly 10 million bicycles are banned from many streets due to an evolving automobile-centric transportation policy (sound familiar, anyone?)

From the Pages of Bicycling Magazine – August, 2008

- My favorite advertising campaign: "A comfortable ass is a happy ass..." (The Pearl iZumi P.R.O. 3D Chamois series of ads featuring a smiling "donkey" who reminds you of Eddie Murphy's character in Shrek...I'm sure that wasn't intended...wink). Oh, how we like having a comfortable ass on long rides!!!
- "Wheel sucker of the Month" – A high school principal in NJ rejected a $2,000 donation from the student environmental club to install a bike rack at the school. When students protested by riding to school in groups and (legally) chaining their bikes around the property, Principal James Riccobono responded with a letter saying "it does (not) make sense, in my opinion, to promote the riding of bikes to school."
- Cool Breeze Century – Ventura, CA, 8/16. Ride 38, 63, 102 or 125 miles by the Pacific. www.cibike.org

ADOT's Statewide Bicycle & Pedestrian Plan

By Bob Beane

You would likely be much more impressed by the Arizona Department of Transportation's Statwide Bicycle & Pedestrian Plan that you would by the marketing and promotion of the plan to average citizens. Never-the-less, such a plan does exist, it does have meaningful impact, the cycling community is consulted, qualified design engineers are on board, and portions of the plan are regularly implemented. The purpose of ADOT's Plan is "to provide a long-term plan for a statewide system of interconnected bicycle facilities that will guide ADOT transportation decisions relating to bicycle and pedestrian travel, planning and facility development." Phase I of the plan involved a survey of existing conditions. Phase II included creation of a Bicycle Users Map, Bicycle Share the Road Guide, Arizona Bicycle Street Smarts, web site enhancements, and project Grant and Funding Plan and an Education Plan. For information regarding roadway and facility projects and their status, visit www.azbikeped.org.

- Bicycling Magazine Video Center – The on-line version of Bicycling Magazine at www.bicycling.com includes recaps of the 2008 Tour de France, Tech Tips, and a lot of other informative features. One of my favorites is the Bicycling Video Center, which currently has pieces running on each stage of the 2008 Tour (to help those of us suffering through our annual post-Tour withdrawal) and a number of video road bike reviews. Past topics have included video/slide show previews of the Moab, UT, and Fruita, CO, mountain bike trails.
- Looking to cross-train, or have a friend who runs? – Mark November 1 on your calendar for the 2008 Desert Grande Duathlon (and Triathlon) at Central Arizona College in Coolidge. The Duathlon distances are inviting for non-Ironman athletes wishing to try a taste of multi-sport competition: 1.5 mile run, 10.3 mile bike, 3.0 mile run. There are categories for both individual and team entrants. Individual entry is $40, team entry is $50, add $15 dollars after October 18. For more information e-mail: nrusso@ci.casa-grande.az.us, call Nick Russo at 520-421-8677 x4540, or visit www.casagrandeaz.gov.
- Matching Donations Leverage Your Donations to IMBA Trailbuilding Fund This Year – Members of the bike industry have committed to matching dollar-for-dollar donations to the International Mountain Biking Association Trailbuilding Fund for a minimum of $250,000 this year. Companies leading the effort include Trek, SRAM and Quality Bicycle Products. To find out more on how to donate, and to follow progress of the Trailbuilding Fund, visit www.imba.com.
- What's Next for Bicycle Signage? – The National Committee on Uniform Traffic Control Devices is a private organization comprised of over 300 experts in the field of traffic control. As reported in the May/June issue of American Bicyclist (the LAB Magazine), the NCUTCD has assisted the Federal Highway Administration in developing the new edition of the Manual On Uniform Traffic Control Devices? Why should we care? As reported in the article, written by Valley resident Richard Moeur, PE, the LAB Representative to the NCUTCD, this manual defines the standards and guidance for signs, markings, signals and traffic control devices on the public roads and bikeways in the United States. Included in the new Manual is an innovative new system of bicycle guide signage including some elements currently used in Europe, multi-use path signage, route numbering, mileposts and signs related to emergency services. Also discussed in Mr. Moeur's article are some experiments currently in progress, including (1) Bicycle Traffic Signals being tested in Denver, (2) Colored Bike Lanes being tested in several cities, and (3) Advance Stop Lines being tested in Portland. For more information, see the magazine or visit www.bikeleague.org.

White Mountain Tour Wrap-Up

Ride Leader Jay Stewart Reported: “Our ride went well this weekend. One hundred and three riders had numerous flats and a few mechanicals, but no injuries. Very little rain fell on the riders during the ride and the temperatures were nearly perfect. The Mountain Christian School provided 25 volunteers and baked goods for the three SAG stops. Many of the riders expressed their appreciation of the enthusiasm and goodies that the volunteers brought to the event. And, the 23 walk-up registrations out numbered the 12 no-shows.”

Cycling on TV – Versus Signs to Cover Tour de France Through 2013

The cornerstone of Versus' TV cycling coverage is “a lock” for five more years.
